Zinc hull anode

Durable zinc hull anode in European bolton style, designed to deliver reliable corrosion protection for boat hulls in saltwater environments. Easy to install and built for longlasting performance.

This zinc hull anode features a European-style bolton design and provides effective sacrificial protection for metal surfaces exposed to saltwater. By corroding gradually, the anode preserves the hull and surrounding components. Suitable for a wide range of vessels and marine applications. For saltwater use only.

Material	Zinc

Read more about the product here:
https://john-dahle.no/product?number=1137103VM