

Supplied air respirator system – 3M Versaflo

S-200+

Art.no.: 1218490

The S-200 supplied air system can be used as a standard air respiratory system with an air hose, or in dual mode with a backup filter when the air supply is disconnected. It features double-acting safety couplings to help minimize the risk of accidental disconnection during use, and an adjustable airflow function that allows you to control the air over your face for maximum comfort.
