Bracket for Lashing

Weldon steel brackets for secure and permanent lashing points. The range covers multiple load classes and is designed for demanding transport, industrial and offshore applications.

This product group consists of weldon steel brackets for lashing points, designed for secure cargo fastening in demanding environments. The brackets are welded directly to the structure, providing a robust and permanent attachment point for chains, straps and other lashing equipment.

The range includes several variants with different load capacities, materials and surface finishes, suitable for both medium and extremely heavy loads.

Read more about the product here:
https://john-dahle.no/product?number=0308210VM